WILL HAVE TONGUE REMOVED

Prominent Denver Physician to Be Operated On for Cancer.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Denver, April 4.—Dr. E. E. Lake, prominent Denver physician, whose hair has been whitened in two years by the prospect of death by cancer, is on his way to Baltimore, where next week he will undergo an operation at Johns Hopkins Hospital for removal of his tongue, which is affected by the deadly malady.

Dr. Lake recently declared he had decided upon sacrificing his tongue after considering his case from all angles, including suicide. He probably will be operated on Monday.

Frank E. Galvin, another Denver cancer victim, returning from Baltimore yesterday, having been cured of cancer of the tongue after one radical operation by Dr. Howard A. Kelley. He resumed work today.

Dr. Lake's discouragement has been aggravated by the fact that Galvin was cured of the same trouble as his own, while he, after three applications of radium, was given up to die or undergo the operation, which will deprive him of his tongue.

VERDICT AGAINST RAILROAD

Award of $50,000 Damages to Man Who Lost Eyesight.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

New York, April 4.—Matthew Yarkonis today for the loss of his eyesight was awarded $50,000 damages against the Lackawanna Railroad by a jury before Judge Charles F. Chandler in the United States District Court in Brooklyn.

The verdict is one of the largest ever given in a United States court to a poor workman. Thomas J. O'Neill, who was Yarkonis' counsel, successfully opposed the railroad's motion to transfer the case for trial to Pennsylvania, where the mine explosion injuring Yarkonis occurred. The suit was brought in this State under Pennsylvania law.

Torreon Suffers From Villa's Attacks as Few Other Cities in History.

WORK OF REHABILITATION

American Surgeons Are Sent For to Minister to Injured Federals.

Torreon, Mex., April 4.—There is blood on every street, on every door in Torreon, and women are weeping in the streets. Not in the history of warfare in Mexico, from the landing of Cortez till the present time, has there been an attack more heavily than on Torreon in the 700,000 people of the city.

Hardly a household escaped. From every one a brother, a husband or a sweetheart is numbered among the killed, wounded or missing. The result of the terrible onslaught made by General Francisco Villa's constitutionalists.

The physical wreckage wrought is rapidly being cleared up, but the heartaches, though materially lessened, will linger for months. Though actual figures relating to Federal losses probably never will be obtained, it is believed the killed will number over 1,000 and the wounded probably twice as many more.

Of the latter, between 400 and 500 were so badly crippled that they could not be moved, and are being cared for by the constitutionalist Hospital Corps.

In order to give the care they need if their lives are to be saved, General Villa has wired Colonel Fidel Ayala in Juarez to secure the services of as many of the best American surgeons in El Paso as possible, and to dispatch them at once to Torreon.

Available Surgeons Impressed.

Such request was made because all the available surgeons in the constitutionalist territory had already been impressed into the service.

While the dead bodies which littered the streets were picked up and burned in great heaps, the removal of the wounded from the city was still being found in houses in the street through which the constitutionalists passed in their efforts to drive the Federals out.

In the wreckage of one building, in a portion of the city captured early in the fight by General Eugenio Aguirre, Benavides Zaragosa, brigade, twelve dead were found. The entire party had evidently been thrown through a window, exploding with such force as not only to kill the occupants of the house, but to batter down the walls. That they were not found before was due to the fact that they were completely covered by the wreckage. They were brought to the street, dumped on a pile of wood, the whole surrounded by many coils of coal oil and a match applied.

Several bodies of men, brought from Chihuahua, are being utilized to cover the wounded in shallow trenches.

General Villa's formal entry into Torreon was made on Friday, when the entire army, his staff and followed by the entire army, a parade of the streets was made and formal possession taken of the place.

Women of the city strewn the way with roses and other flowers, and Villa was cheered nearly as he rode at the head of the cavalry. To his credit, he must be said that he accepted the honors which the citizens of Torreon heaped upon him very modestly.

Entitled to No Credit.

To a detachment of citizens who waited upon him to welcome him to the city he said that he was entitled to no credit, and that any honor shown should be given to the army and not to him. He deplored the political expedients which compelled him to march such havoc upon the town, and said the blame of the city's destruction should be put upon the Federal commander who insisted upon marching into the city instead of coming peacefully into the city.

The work of rehabilitation is progressing rapidly. The wreckage which littered the streets is being cleared up, and the houses are being repaired. The work of rebuilding is being carried on, and the city is being restored to its former condition.

The city water service is being restored as rapidly as possible. Most of the stores have been sent to El Paso to be repaired, with which to restore their establishments. These merchants are being supplied with goods by the authorities in Juarez to pass all the goods to the city.

The city is still in process, but the task is being carried on, and the city is being restored to its former condition.

VICTORIOUS REBEL GENERAL

PASCHO VILLA, THE CITIZEN.

This picture is interesting, because it is unlike any before published of the bandit rebel commander. It is a recent portrait, taken just before he started his victorious campaign against the Huertista forces.

number of Federal dead, but superficial inspection of public places would indicate that not less than 2,000 bodies are scattered about. It will be a task to get rid of the dead, but a gigantic funeral pyre probably will be built and the bodies of men and animals incinerated.

Among the dead are some of the picked ruffians who fought against Zapata in the South, and who were sent North to attempt to check the advance of the revolution. When Villa entered the city, only thirty who were made prisoners remained to tell the tragic story of their defeat. During the close of the fighting on Thursday, when the Federal garrison was defeated, they threw down their arms and took to flight.

The Italian account of the number of dead is not relied on here.

Consular Agent Powers of Parral, who was arrested charged with passing counterfeit money, still is under charges, but is at liberty on parole. Marion Lecher, consul here, demanded that Powers be given an immediate hearing, but Manuel Chao, Military Governor of the State, has not found time to comply, owing to the press of other duties in connection with the battle of Torreon.

As to Villa's future movements, local strategists say they believe that, having rested and refitted his army, he will proceed simultaneously against Saltillo and Monterrey, to the east, and Zacatecas, to the south. Assuming success in the exploits, they say the two armies then will reunite probably at San Luis Potosi, for the campaign against Mexico City. They assume, it is said that Mazatlan and Tampico will be reduced by rebel forces already marching toward them.

Rebel officers here quote General Villa as opposed to any compromise with the enemy, if one should be proposed.

"We will be ready to dictate in Mexico City," he is quoted. "There can be no compromise. Madero compromised through the treachery of those who did not appreciate him or took advantage of his clemency. This revolution must be the last in Mexico, and it must be thorough and conclusive. This we must accomplish by force of arms, so that in the end there will be no questioning of our orders or our laws."

Another Huertista Minor.

Vera Cruz, April 4.—Huertista forces have expressed their willingness to listen to some proposition for improving the situation, but the president's representative, the presidential chair in favor of some man acceptable to both the Washington administration and the rebel leaders, have again been put in circulation following the appearance here of the same mysterious individual who came here just before Mr. Lind's visit to the States. This man, who is believed to be a representative of Huerta, but whose name cannot be learned had a short interview with Mr. Lind to-day and it is understood that he will either accompany Mr. Lind to New Orleans on the Mayflower, or follow General Huerta. He is said to have been present at the mysterious conference between Mr. Lind and President
